

Henry Rosenberg, MD

henryrosenbergmd@gmail.com

+1 (201)-296-7212

New York, NY

Education

Undergraduate of Brooklyn College, 1963

Graduate of Albert Einstein College of Medicine, 1967

Residency and Fellowship in Anesthesiology, Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania, 1967-1972

Under Dr. Robert Dripps and Dr. Harry Wollman

Professional Career

Founding Member, Malignant Hyperthermia Association, 1981

Clinician and researcher, Hospital of the University of Pennsylvania Department of Anesthesiology

Professor and Chairman, Hahnemann University Medical School Department of Anesthesiology

Vice Chairman of Anesthesiology, Thomas Jefferson University Medical School

President of Malignant Hyperthermia Association of the U.S.

Director of Medical Education and Clinical Research, Saint Barnabas Medical School, Livingston New Jersey

Variant Curation Expert Panel Consortium, National Human Genome Research Organization

Study of genetics of Malignant Hyperthermia

Developer of Malignant Hyperthermia testing site, University of Pennsylvania, Hahnemann Medical School, and Thomas Jefferson University Medical School

Member of the American Society of Anesthesiologists

Association of University of Anesthesiologists, along with several other medical and pharmacology societies and state Anesthesiology societies

Author/coauthor of about 180 peer reviewed publications, as well as numerous abstracts

Member of numerous medical societies

Awards and Accomplishments

Recipient of Distinguished Service Award, American Society of Anesthesiologists, 2014

Invited lecturer and event organizer, Malignant Hyperthermia Association

Nationally and internationally